March Winds Can Not Be Counted Ill When They Bring Such Good Values For

As Seen By Her!

A Modern Pandora

The buyers are coming back from the East and with them comes a tidal wave of boxes—boxes of such alluring sizes and shapes—from nearly every corner of the globe. The desire to lift the covers of those mysterious boxes is irresistible, and to see is to want, but who would want to resist such loveliness as they contain? When the boxes are opened there follows a gust of things eternally feminine, fads, fancies and fashions; tints of rosy dawn to shades of sombre twilight; things magnificent or things crisp and dainty, things of every beautiful shape and hue.

Now is the time of year that your favorite dinner gown is beginning to show that it was your favorite. And your tricotine dress is a bit shiny at the elbows, and you feel the urge of spring to blossom out in new raiment. You will be attracted by that—

Beaver Color Taffeta—and wouldn't you be pleased to find it fashioned into an Eton Dress?

Or you might be interested in a Suit—most women are!

This navy tricotine suit has just all the noticeable little novelty touches which are the reason for its being new.

Perhaps you are of those women who look best in clingy frocks. Then you will surely want this beflowered crepe with designs of iridescent beads worked into the loveliest pattern.

A tricotine frock has a Tuxedo collar that refuses to stop at the waist line.

Just imagine Silken Petticoats to keep company with the new frocks; lureful, lustrous weaves as colorful as the posies in an old-fashioned garden.

Some women do not wear petticoats on the street nowadays—they wear pettibockers. And how blithely one can swing along in these of glove silk fiber.

Futurist designs are a cultivated taste—like olives—once acquired, however, you will freely love the cushions, scarfs and throws of raw linen in pastel shades with applied flower decorations.

And the pretty ribbons go a long way as trimmings for new effects.

These Hints, of the prettiness that you will find, are really too vague. Stroll through the departments all by yourself and play Pandora to your heart's content. And the littleness of the prices will be the pleasantest find of all—and emphatically contradict all this H. C. L. talk.
